

Today we mark the 7-year anniversary of the horrific Tree of Life massacre in Pittsburgh: a Shabbat morning where a gunman opened fire and stole 11 precious lives, forever changing families and a community.

It remains a painful truth that Jews are still forced to live with the fear of violence in their most sacred spaces. No one should fear going to a building of faith. No one should be murdered for being Jewish.

May their memories forever be a blessing

▶ יהי זכרם ברוך

Matt Rourke/AP